1865	6070	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Information: 1865, a gale which exposed the seafront from Wherrytown to Newlyn, damaged 3 large fishing boats either under construction or repair. They were carried 50 yards from the Tolcarne sea wall. The boats belonged to William Hichens, Thomas & Samuel Carter and Mr. Rouffignac. ref Ben Batten, Newlyn Heritage, p18.
1880	237	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	Photo showing the road from Lariggan to Tolcarne which was washed away on Thursday October 7, 1880. The boat builder was a Mr Warren, of Newlyn. On the left at the back is Bodilly's Mill, where the Western National Garage was built later. Also centre rear is the serpentine works which ceased in 1912 (Cornishman 15/3/1962). The storm burst over Mount's Bay in the early morning. Directly after Alexandra Terrace the road was completely washed away, only enough remaining to allow people to pass in single file. At intervals along the road towards Newlyn, there were rents in the sea wall and large pieces of the road had been carried away. Just before Tolcarne Terrace, there were great fissures in the road, which was rendered almost impassable by great coping stones from the sea wall that had been deposited there by the storm. Photo from Pat Pilkerton Collection.
